FICTIONAL CREDIT-BLOCK PROCESS NOTES

Analyst: Avery Patel. Source: a fictional teammate's informal notes.
For this exercise only, the fictional approval thresholds are: Analyst up to EUR 25,000; Credit Manager above EUR 25,000 through EUR 250,000; Finance Director above EUR 250,000.
These are not a real company's approval rules.
credit block release - how sasha does it
- check the blocked orders report every morning ~9, sort by value
- look at customer: overdue? if overdue > 15 days usually dont release, unless sales says payment is coming (get it in writing!!)
- check credit limit vs exposure (open AR + open orders)
- small stuff she just releases, big ones go to credit mgr (not sure exact limit - think 25k?)
- key accounts list - those get released faster, ask sales ops for the list
- if customer is new (<6 months) always ask credit mgr
- write a note in the order why released
- sometimes temporary limit increase instead of release - credit mgr does that, valid 30 days?
- end of month: dont release anything after cutoff without finance director ok?
- escalate if order is stuck >2 days, sales complains a lot
